

A comprehensive institution of higher education offering career-focused programs, which engage students with a “learning by doing” approach.

With Pac-12 resources, WSU Tri-Cities provides access to baccalaureate-level and graduate education to benefit the people, communities and economy it serves.

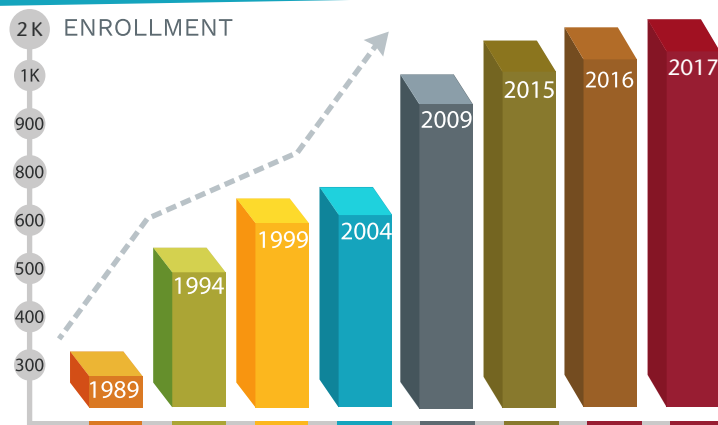

Chancellor: Sandra D. Haynes, Ph.D

Located in the Pacific Northwest, the Tri-Cities is within a short flight distance to other great west coast destinations

ABOUT

- 1,937 students enrolled (fall 2017)
- Gender: 57.7 female, 42.3 male
- Diversity: 38.9 minority (WSU's most diverse campus)
- Student to faculty ratio: 15 to 1
- Average Freshman GPA: 3.36
- Average student age: 24.6
- First generation student: 40.6%

LEARNING BY DOING

- High-tech, high-touch, hands-on, career-focused, project-based learning, global application
- 92% of WSU Tri-Cities graduates are employed within six months of graduation (well above national average)
- 150+ students working in volunteer roles
- $23.9 million in research funding awarded to WSU Tri-Cities
- Tri-Cities ranked #7 in the nation for STEM jobs (NerdWallet, 2016)
- WSU Tri-Cities has more than 70 industrial, agricultural and community partners

TUITION AND FINANCIAL AID

- Resident tuition and fees: $10,236 per year
- Resident per credit: $503 (1-9 credits), $477 (each credit 19 and over)
- Students earned $160,000 in STEM scholarships
- Non-resident tuition: $24,468
- Non-resident per credit: $1,224 (1-9 credits), $1,198 (each credit 19 and over)

DEGREE PROGRAMS

- 20 undergraduate and 33 graduate degrees

